World Laboratory Animal Liberation Week April, 2012

World Laboratory Animal Liberation Week is the week that surrounds April 24th every year - It's a national week of protests, media events, etc. at laboratories to stop testing and research on animals. There are no scheduled protests for the Gainesville area. Currently, the only protest listed for Florida is in the Miami area.

Further information may follow if protests in our area are scheduled.

Please be aware of any unusual activity in or around campus facilities during this time frame. If you see something suspicious please contact the University of Florida Police Department at (352)392-1111.

Created by: Det. Jeffrey Moran #53
Sources of Information: http://www.all-creatures.org

Public Bulletin #12-018
Date: April 12th, 2012